

The True Religion (part 8 of 8): Conclusion

Description: The seventh chapter of the book "The True Religion." A conclusion to the topic of how one is to recognize the true religion of God.

By Dr. Bilal Philips

Published on 25 Dec 2006 - Last modified on 27 Dec 2006

Category: Articles > Evidence Islam is Truth > Logical Proofs

The preceding presentation has demonstrated that the name of the religion of Islam expresses Islam's most central principle, submission to God, and that the name "Islam" was chosen not by man, but by God, according to the holy scriptures of Islam. It has also been shown that Islam alone teaches the uniqueness of God and His attributes and enjoins the worship of God alone without intermediaries. Finally, due to the divinely instilled inclination of man to worship God and the signs revealed by God throughout the ages to each individual, Islam may be achieved by all men at all times.

In short, the significance of the name Islam (submission to God), Islam's fundamental acknowledgment of the uniqueness of God, and Islam's accessibility to all mankind at all times, convincingly support Islam's claim that, from the beginning of time, in whatever language it was expressed, Islam alone has been, and will be, the true religion of God.

In conclusion, we ask God, the exalted, to keep us on the right path to which He has guided us, and to bestow on us His Blessings and Mercy, for He is indeed the Most Merciful. Praise be to God, the Lord of the worlds, and Peace and Blessings be on Prophet Muhammad and on all the prophets of God and their righteous followers.

The web address of this article:

<http://www.islamreligion.com/articles/467>

Copyright © 2006-2011 IslamReligion.com. All rights reserved.